SUBJECT: COMPOSITION OF VIRGIN ROSE HIP OIL

Dear Madam/Sir,

Our virgin rose hip oil is obtained from several varieties that are: Rosa canina L., Rosa rubiginosa L., "Rosa mosqueta".

The seeds are harvested by wild harvest and are not from a plantation.

The proportion of each variety is therefore difficult to determine and may vary from batch to batch.

In order to take into account these different varieties and in consultation with our suppliers, we chose to give to this oil the INCI name: ROSE EXTRACT.

This designation is defined by the COSING (European Inventory of Cosmetic Ingredients) as follows: "Rose Extract is an extract of various species of the Rose, Rosa spp., Rosaceae".

These elements are in accordance with the reality of matter.

Yours sincerely,

Regulatory service
